A NEW IMMERSIVE SPACE!

Lascaux IV is continuing to develop in 2022, offering a new, particularly immersive experience at the end of the tour route to follow on from the temporary exhibitions.

A beautiful way of rounding off the discovery and encouraging our visitors to broaden their minds and question what they've seen...

This new device will be ready for public viewing in late April-early May and will consist of 3 shows scripted by Jean-Paul Jouary, each lasting 8 minutes. This philosopher, who's passionate about the link between parietal and contemporary art, also designed Lascaux IV's "Gallery of the Imagination".

The technical production will be entrusted to Atelier 144 - La Fabrique d'Arts Numériques, which has a wealth of relevant references: temporary exhibitions at the Musée du Quai Branly - Volcano Show in Vulcania - Musée des Confluences in Lyon, etc.

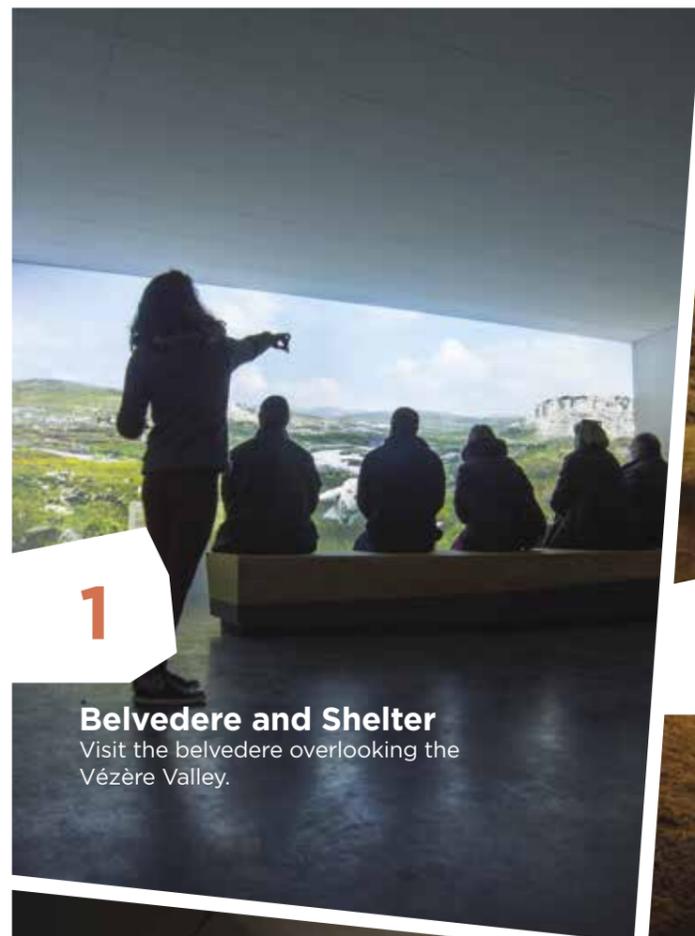

This immersive room will offer an experience to spark the imagination with a spectacular contemplation of Palaeolithic works, seeking to bring out their magical dimension along with their powerful influence on modern and contemporary art: the play on hands, Round of Venus, fantastic human figuration, gestures, our animal cousins, the Lascaux farandole... A vast array of exciting themes!

Another specificity of this room is its modular nature, meaning that it can be used for private hire, to host exceptional evenings, seminars and other events...

The full project will be unveiled in April, and we'll warmly invite you to come and discover it then!
